Negro Drug Fiends Run Amuck and Shoot Up Mississippi Town

CAPTURED AND LYNCHED

The Bodies Cut Down This Morning and Buried by Town Authorities—Twenty-two Injured in the Promiscuous Shooting.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Harrison, Miss., Sept. 29.—Bodies of two negroes hanging by ropes from a coal chute were the only reminders here early this morning of Sunday's rioting, in which three white men and seven negroes were killed. E. P. Appleby, a railroad conductor, shot down on the platform of his car, has slight chances for recovery.

The bodies of the drug crazed Jones brothers, who started the disorder, were cut down later in the day and buried by the town authorities.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Harrison, Miss., Sept. 29.—Two drug-crazed mulatto boys, brothers, began a reign of murder Sunday morning that ended only after three white men, four negro men and a negro woman had been killed, several persons wounded and the two boys lynched. Twenty-two persons, 16 of them negroes, were injured during the promiscuous shooting.

The trouble started at about 3 o'clock Sunday morning and continued intermittently until 10 o'clock, when Walter Jones, the elder of the two boys, who started the firing, was lynched, just after the soldiers arrived. His brother, Will Jones, had been shot and killed by citizens earlier in the day. Citizens of the town, who had barricaded themselves in their homes, began to cautiously emerge at 10 o'clock from their hiding places and by noon all was quiet.

G. B. HAMMETT, sheriff of Jefferson county, white, shot while leading a posse to where the Jones brothers were hiding.

FRANK KEINSTLEY, former constable, white, shot at his home after being called to the door.

CLAUDE FREEMAN, white, of Fayette, Miss., shot at the railway station while waiting for a train.

Johanna Aiken, Tom Weeks, Jesse Thompson, Teller Warren and Thead Grayson, negroes, killed during promiscuous shooting.

Walter and Will Jones, negroes, lynched.

The Wounded.
Orrin Gillie, former sheriff, white, shot in shoulder and may die.

E. B. Appleby, white, conductor of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad, shot in breast, leg and arm; serious.

William McCaleb, white, shot in leg and thigh.

William Kiensley, white, son of Frank Kiensley, shot in hand.

William Dennis, white, shot in leg.

W. C. Bond, white, shot in leg. The negroes were not seriously hurt.

The shooting was started by Walter Jones, aged 20, in the negro quarter, where the negro woman and Thead Grayson were shot and killed.

Ex-President of Peru Will Educate His Children in America

Augusto B. Leguia, former president of Peru, has decided that he wants to make North Americans of his two sons, and he has brought them to this country to be educated here. Jose, the elder, is at the University of Wisconsin, while Juan, the younger, has been sent to an academy at Warrenton, Va.

While president of Peru, Mr. Leguia did much to promote the interests of his country. He has laid plans for building a railway which will connect the waters of the Pacific with the Atlantic. Peru has 3,000 miles of navigable water, and when a railroad is built from Cerro de Pasco to Ucayali there will be direct connection between the two oceans.

Another remarkable achievement under the direction of President Leguia was the erection of a wireless station on San Cristobal Hill in Lima. This is the largest wireless station in the world, and if New York had as large a one, direct communication by wireless would be possible between New York and Lima.

Chicago authorities are investigating the death of Dana Murdock Miller, aged 27, son of the late Major Charles D. Miller, and Mary M. Miller. Aside from a brief message to the effect that Mr. Miller had been killed, his relatives have been unable, so far, to obtain detailed information regarding the manner of his death.

His mother, a juvenile officer in Probate court, who resides at 285 Buena Vista street, received messages late Saturday afternoon simultaneously from two Chicago undertakers, announcing that her son had been killed and asking her advice on disposition of the body.

Mrs. Miller at once wired instructions for immediate shipment of the body of her son to Newark for interment.

She was notified Monday that an autopsy was being held, and shipment would be delayed pending outcome of the examination. Further information was not forthcoming, whereupon Mrs. Miller wired friends in Chicago to investigate and notify her. Late Monday she had received no further information.

Mr. Miller last visited his home here a year ago last spring. He was an acrobat by profession, and managed his own bookings independently in vaudeville, his mother said Monday. A year ago he went to Chicago for the winter, where he had engagements in his profession, working in spare moments as a cartoon artist for some of the Chicago newspapers.

When last heard from Mr. Miller wrote his mother that he had been considering going to Chicago soon to spend the winter. The letter containing this information was sent here when the son was in a Michigan town, and was received only last week. Mrs. Miller believes he had been in Chicago only a few days.

The body will arrive over the B. & O. at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, and will be taken to the home of his mother in Buena Vista street, where the funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday. Rev. L. P. Franklin will officiate and interment made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mr. Miller is survived by his mother and the following sisters and brothers: Myrtle, Ruth, Joseph B., Charles and Mrs. C. F. Kerr.

Mr. Otman and daughters, Misses Florence and Alice, of Utica, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. M. B. Windle and family in North Fourth street.

A FINAL REPORT ON THE BILL

With Which Tariff Conferencees Have Been Struggling to be Made Today

OVER 700 AMENDMENTS

Were Made by Senate and Which House Refused to Accept—Bill Going to the House Contains Many Reductions.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 29.—The conference report on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, representing the final adjustment of disputes between the senate and house over the former amendments, was made public early today when the Democratic managers submitted it for the first time to their Republican colleagues on the conference committee. In the form in which the tariff bill ultimately will go to President Wilson for his signature it carries many changes from the original Underwood bill passed by the house last May. While the senate gave way on many of its amendments, in the two weeks' fight of the committee, many important changes were retained and the general average of rates of the house bill was reduced about four per cent ad valorem.

In a summary of the agreements that have been informally announced from day to day on the conference work, the report shows the following important alterations of the original Underwood house bill.

The tax rate on incomes above $75,000 was increased by a graduated scale from three per cent to seven per cent and the income tax exemption reduced from $4,000 to $3,000. Articles added to the free list include pig iron, ferro manganese ore, cheap grades of iron, cattle and other food animals, wheat, flour, hay, hemp, sugar refining machinery, school textbooks, sand blast machinery, indigo, dyes, photographic moving picture films, cement, asphalt, and many other articles.

A new classification for woolen stockings, gloves and mittens makes a reduction from the house rate on these valued at less than $1.20 a dozen, and an increase on those above. Angora wool and articles made from it were given a higher duty than in the house bill.

The house rate on silk ribbons and narrow fabrics was increased from forty to forty-five per cent, while the house rates on common paper boxboards and papers used for photographic prints were reduced.

An increased rate of duty was provided for lithographic views of American scenes and the rate on surface coated papers suitable for covering boxes was increased from 25 to 40 per cent. Reduction in the house duties was made on wearing apparel of cattle or goatskin, fur hats, rough forms of dog and goat skins, camel's hair press cloth, for use in cotton oil mills and through a reclassification rates will be slightly reduced from those fixed by the house on fancy grades of cotton cloth. The house rate on cotton stockings and half hose was also reduced.

Reductions in the house rates in the chemical schedule covered perfumed and medicinal soaps, crude chicle, linseed oil, chlorate of potash and several other items, while the house rates were increased on many kinds of acids, and on some classes of paints. The senate succeeded in reducing the house rates on power lenses, surgical instruments, telescopes and the like. Most of the changes reducing rates on iron and steel products were approved by the tariff committee making the rates considerably lower on the average than those of the original house bill.

The conference agreement repeals section 6 of the Cuban reciprocity treaty which provided that Cuba should have a preferential rate of 20 per cent on sugar and that the general sugar tariff of the United States should not be reduced below the figures of the Dingley tariff law of 1897.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 29.—The Democratic tariff revision began early last April and which has been constantly before congress since that time, approached its final stages early today, when the full conference committee named by Senate and House to adjust their differences, met to adopt their final report on the bill.

Great Interest in the "Made in Newark" Show; Placing Exhibits Today

The "Made in Newark" show, which will be a feature for the entertainment and education of county fair visitors is on. Local manufacturers and producers started early Monday morning to place their products on exhibition in the Arcade and before night, the place will be well filled.

Merchants in the Arcade have donated their windows to the manufacturers and these are filled with articles made here. Products too large to place in windows, have been given position through the center of the Arcade and this will no doubt be filled.

It will probably be Tuesday noon before all the displays are in position but Newark and Licking county people will find the show one of great interest and education.

Those who have their displays in position this afternoon are:

The Newark Stamping Company, manufacturers of hose couplings. The Wyeth Manufacturing Company, tank wagons and sleigh runners. Wright D. Waeth, manufacturers of fine buggies and carriages. The Styron Begg Company, manufacturers of druggists' sundries, proprietary preparations and extracts.

The Licking Creamery Company, manufacturers of milk and cream products. McCabon's Photo Studio. Newark Furniture Company, manufacturers of fine furniture.

The Heisey Glass Company, fine glass table ware.

Oxley Brothers, manufacturers of harness.

Cochran Planing Mill, manufacturers of cabinet work and fine inside finishing materials.

Burke Golf Shaft company, golf sticks, etc.

Advance Glass company, manufacturers of art glass.

Wyeth Scott Company, cement and concrete products, drain tile, concrete blocks and burial vaults.

The Newark Ladies Tailoring company, ladies suits and costumes.

Mrs. O'Hara, taxidermist.

The Midland Shoe company, manufacturers of shoes.

The Holophone company, fine glass shades and reflectors.

Weiland & Cramer, bakers and confectioners.

Newark Ice and Cold Storage company, ice manufacturers.

E. T. Rugg Company, manufacturers of halters, etc.

The Blair Manufacturing company, manufacturers of the Blair direct drive worm gear auto truck.

The Advocate Printing Company, blank book makers and book binders.

J. F. Cherry Company, cigar manufacturer.

Wednesday and Thursday during the show, the Licking County Creamery company will give away ice cream cones at the Norton Book Store in the Arcade.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE IN SMITH CASE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Springfield, O., Sept. 29.—By a vote of 7 to 5 for acquittal which the members of the jury said no number of ballots could change, the jury which heard the second trial of Dr. Arthur B. Smith, charged with having poisoned his first wife, was dismissed this morning at 11:45 o'clock after forty-four hours' deliberation.

The jury locked horns on the third ballot at 7 to 5 on Saturday evening and the ballot remained unchanged through the subsequent ballots. The first ballot stood 7 to 5 for conviction. The nearest approach to a verdict was on Saturday evening when the vote went 5 to 4 for acquittal.

The trial has occupied two weeks and has been one of the most talked of events in local Common Pleas court history.

Judge Hogan ordered the jury discharged. This was the second time that the prosecution of Dr. Smith has resulted in a mistrial.

While attorneys for the defense would not say what they would do yet, it is believed by court attaches that an application will be made soon for the release of Dr. Smith on bail. Just what this will bring about is problematical.

Fire Rages in the Business Section of New Straitsville

Shawnee, Sept. 29.—Fire which entailed a loss of $1,000, destroyed part of the business section of New Straitsville early Saturday. The losers were Calvin Essex, J. Andrews, J. L. West, Malloy Brothers, John Creamer and Dr. B. E. Winter. Insurance covers $14,000 of the loss. Deputy state fire marshals are investigating the fire, as incendiarism is suspected.

MISSING WITNESS LOCATED

(Associated Press Telegram)
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Frederick L. Colwell, long-missing witness in the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer is not in a sanitarium but is ready to come to court and testify for the governor, providing he is not placed under arrest by the board of managers for having previously refused to testify. Judge Herrick announced this at the opening of court today.

While members of the court of impeachment that is trying Governor Sulzer were arriving in town today for the regular half day Monday session, a dozen detectives were busy serving subpoenas for both prosecution and defense. A score of legislators and politicians were sought by the board of managers, while 50 persons were being called for the governor.

The testimony today of Melville J. Fuller and J. G. Gray, New York brokers regarding the governor's stock deals, was expected to clear the decks for the introduction of testimony regarding Sulzer's alleged bartering of present influence tomorrow.

Friends of James C. Garrison who is held at the Albany county penitentiary for contempt of the assembly, have abandoned hope of obtaining his freedom before October 6. On that date the assembly will reconvene and Garrison's friends hope that the assemblymen will relent and free him. He is said to be eager to make peace with the members.

Guy Chilcote, who formerly resided in Hudson avenue this city, returned to his home in Indianapolis on Sunday after spending a few days the guest of his sister in North Fourth street.

BEST FAIR IN HISTORY PROMISED BY LICKING AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Entries Have Been Pouring In and There Is an Adequacy of Stables and Sheds to Accommodate the Exhibitors

SECRETARY AND HIS ASSISTANTS ARE KEPT BUSY

Live Stock Department Will Make a Splendid Showing While the Agricultural, Floral and Art Halls are Full to Overflowing—Speeders for the Races Include Best Horses in the Country—The Big Fair Begins Tuesday.

All is in readiness for opening of the Newark fair. With good weather, there are indications that all previous attendance records will be broken, making it the biggest event in the history of the Licking County Agricultural society.

Inadequacy of the stables and sheds to accommodate the rush of entries was never more forcibly brought to the board's attention than this year. In all the live stock departments there was a dearth of accommodations, which brought an early Monday order from Secretary J. M. Farmer for his assistants to bend every effort to repair damaged stalls and build new ones wherever there was room.

Every entry is full, the last one being cared for early Monday morning.

The lightest entry in live stock is in the swine department, where exhibitors have been thinned out by the prevalence and fear of hog cholera, which has invaded this section of the country with heavy loss resulting.

Secretary Farmer cited something like 300 heads of show horses in support of his prediction of a few days ago that the horse entries would break all previous records.

In the agricultural, floral and art departments there is a veritable mass of entries. All of these have been coming in with such confusing rapidity that officers of the board will not have the time to straighten out before sometime Tuesday, in order to give the exact number of entries.

Exhibitors in all departments come from all over the county, from various parts of Ohio and from neighboring states.

The county fair ground was a scene of bustling activity Monday, and Secretary Farmer was just about the busiest man in Ohio for some time. Failure of some of his assistants to straighten out the assignment of stalls in the cattle and swine stables added to his heavy responsibilities during the day, and he was kept busy every minute.

The result of it will be, however, that when the annual exhibition opens, Tuesday, it will be the most complete ever held in the county.

In the way of general amusement, besides the horse races, which list some particularly good stoppers and will prove the feature entertainment of the fair, there are to be any number of side attractions.

As a substitute for balloon and aviation displays, the free attraction to be seen daily will be the Lunette Sisters, in aerial feats of daring. This troupe gives some thrilling exhibitions from an elevated apparatus, and is said to offer an abundance of excitement for the curious.

There will be the usual quota of freaks and curiosities, including an educated horse that is said to rival any of the equine species ever featured in this way.

Monday the grounds were dotted with tents. Here and there were busy groups erecting their exhibits, which include all sorts of mechanical contraptions and labor-saving devices.

Horsemen, who have been on the ground for several days, and others who arrived Saturday and Sunday, were busy grooming their speeders and working them out on the track. A dozen owners of coming track horses were on the scene looking after their horses and keeping a close tab on their care.

Secretary J. M. Farmer was well pleased with the outlook Monday, and took time from his duties to say to the Advocate that if the weather man looks with favor on the fair, there will be no cause for complaint from visitors. Said he:

"This is the people's fair and it's up to them now to make it a success by giving record attendance. We couldn't ask for a better list of entries, and I'm sure when the people see what a fair we have this year they will tell their friends and before the close, Friday evening, we will have gone far beyond the attendance in any past year."

One of the features scheduled for Thursday will be a public debate for and against equal suffrage. Secretary J. M. Farmer has granted a request from Columbus suffrage headquarters that the speakers be allowed to appear as an outside attraction.

While Secretary Farmer has not been apprised of the names of the speakers or the exact hour of their appearance before the fair grounds crowd, they will talk from in front of the Park Hotel, on the grounds, probably during the afternoon on Thursday.

Purses aggregating $3,000 are offered for the race program which opens Wednesday and continues over Thursday and Friday afternoon. Fifteen entries are listed in the first event, a 2:24 pace. The next event is the 2:27 trot, with sixteen entries, and the final race of Wednesday is the 2:14 pace, with fifteen entries.

Thursday's program consists of a 2:15 trot, with nine entries; a 2:17 pace with fifteen entries; 2:21 trot with thirteen entries, and the 2:11 pace, with eight entries.

On Friday, race fans will see a 2:24 trot, with fifteen entries; a 2:20 pace, having eighteen entries, and the program closing with eleven entries competing in a 2:15 trot.

Several Newark owned horses will appear on the track in competition with racers from elsewhere over the state and a few from outside the state.

THREE "LIFERS" ARE PARDONED BY GOVERNOR

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Sept. 29.—Rather than have her die in the penitentiary or endanger the lives of other women prisoners by tubercular contagion, Governor Cox today pardoned Linnie Owens, aged 44, white, who has been serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of her husband in 1904 at Steubenville.

Two other life prisoners will be released also by pardon and commutation to shorter sentences granted by the governor. They are Lewis Winkerson, sentenced in 1898 for the murder in second degree of a man named Wood, from Marion county, and Charles Hawkins, aged 46, colored, who shot his 15-year-old sweetheart while in a fit of jealousy, at Canton and was sentenced in 1892.

The pardon for Mrs. Owens was carried to her this afternoon by Mr. Murray Miller, member of the board of lady visitors, who has been working on her case for some time. The woman went when told she was to be released. She will make her home with a sister in Steubenville.

Judge Smith of Steubenville, Prosecuting Attorney W. C. Brown, Warden Thomas of the penitentiary, and the state board of administration had urged her pardon to the pardon board, which recommended it to Governor Cox.

EXAMINATION OF CHAUFFEURS WILL BE RIGID

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Sept. 29.—Plans which will require a rigid examination for automobile chauffeurs after the first of the year when the law with reference to chauffeurs license becomes effective, are being worked out by Secretary of State Graves. Chauffeurs qualifications will be such, it is said, that the licenses some now have, will be revoked.

The new law places the matter entirely in the hands of the secretary, and Mr. Graves said today that he will have an expert automobile man hold examinations in various cities of the state to determine the qualifications of applicants. Owners of automobiles are excluded, under the law, but chauffeurs must have license.

In order to procure a license, according to the plan of the secretary of state, the applicants must show that they are of good moral character, that they possess a thorough knowledge of the laws of the state of Ohio and that they understand thoroughly the mechanism and workings of automobiles.

CHARLES C. METZ RETURNS HOME AFTER FINE TRIP

Steamer President Grant, With Mr. Metz on Board Due in New York Today or Tuesday.

Mr. Charles C. Metz, who has been enjoying a trip through Europe, is expected to reach New York today or tomorrow, enroute home. Mr. Metz sailed on September 20th from Hamburg on the steamer President Grant for New York.

In writing September 13th at Dresden, Germany, to a Newark friend, Mr. Metz says in part:

From copies of the Advocate which reached me in Germany and from personal letters received from time to time I have been kept pretty well informed in foreign lands about Newark and its people. The fire at the Hulsizer mill, almost at my doorstep, was a great surprise but it was consoling to know that the destruction of the mill was not complete. I hope the loss Messrs. Hulsizer sustained was well covered by insurance.

To make even an attempt at an account of my trip would not be within the scope of a letter. It all passes before my mind like a great panorama. It seems as if a whole life had been crowded into a few months and it seems that even centuries are after all very short when we look into the many old towers and castles of bygone glory and the old cathedrals that have withstood the ravages of war and conquest—Old Rome with its moss covered and weather-beaten walls, the Forum which is now only a mass of crumbled marble, the Coliseum which startles one with its massiveness because the many pictures we have seen of it never do full justice to the immensity of this once famous structure. These are yet and will be for many years of great interest to the traveling public.

The Mediterranean sea, the many beautiful lakes, the Alpine regions of Switzerland and Austria, that magnificent waterway, the Rhine, with its many historic towers and castles, occupying prominent positions along its banks are only a few of the thousands of features that occupy the travelers' attention.

The art display of the great masters of the world in painting and sculpture is alone worth the cost and the time of making the trip.

We have also given a little of our time to the old institutions of learning, such as Heidelberg, Eaton, Oxford and Cambridge. We have visited the Shakespearean country, the birthplace and home of the famous English poet. Not least but last was our visit to Paris after all is said, the great cities of Europe, both in distinctive features and in importance. (Henry Sachs would put Berlin first among European cities.) To do more than make a passing mention of a few things that flash upon my mind would be presumptuous upon my part for all has been written and rewritten so many times by persons much more competent than myself.

RECRUITS ARE INFERIOR SAYS ARMY SURGEON

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Many an undrugged searower gets into the army because of the custom of admitting men several pounds under regulation weight, according to Captain Harold W. Jones, of the army medical corps. After examining 500 recruits, Captain Jones has reached the conclusion that the recruits of today are inferior in strength and physique to the soldiers in the army in 1875.

Of the half thousand men who presented themselves for enlistment, only 23 per cent. could be rated as "strong," while it was 57 per cent. in 1875, when hardy German and Irish immigrants of stocky build were numerous among the recruits. At that time sixty per cent. of the recruits were foreign born, whereas present day enlistments comprise only nine per cent. foreign born.

Modern recruits are alleged to have more brains than those of earlier years and it is a question whether they are not better all round soldiers. Further investigation along these lines may be made by army officials.

TO SEARCH HOME FOR EVIDENCE

Charged with being intoxicated, H. E. Pierson and Pearl M. Pierson were taken into custody Sunday night by police officers. Pierson faces the additional charge of assault to be filed by the city officers, while the B. and O. police department will investigate a story that Pierson has been melting rabbit metal and other soft metals at his home in Second street. The railroad detectives declared their intention of filing an affidavit for a search warrant, to go over the Pierson home. Pierson was a switchman in the employ of the B. and O. company here.

POLICE CHIEF AND PATROLMAN "COME TOGETHER"

Following an altercation between Police Chief James Sheridan and Patrolman George McClure Sunday evening at headquarters, Patrolman McClure was ordered under arrest for assault and resisting an officer, and was suspended from the police force. He was ordered to appear before Mayor Swartz in police court Monday morning to answer to a charge of assault and resisting an officer but when the case was ready for consideration by Mayor Swartz Chief Sheridan announced that he had decided to drop the charges for the present.

The trouble between the officers drew a crowd of several hundred people in front of headquarters and there were many different stories afloat as to the details of the fracas.

It is known that the officers came together and that threats were made, which if carried out, might have resulted in serious consequences.

Police Chief Sheridan's statement of the affair is to the effect that McClure refused to obey an order issued by his superior. He was suspended without further parley and when the chief demanded McClure's badge, keys and other police department property the patrolman "shoved" the chief and the trouble started.

Police Chief Sheridan said: "I ordered McClure to replace the chain on his hook, which he refused to do. I told him he was suspended and demanded his badge and other articles furnished by the department. As I stepped forward to receive the articles, he shoved me away and I ordered his arrest."

This is not the first time that Sheridan and McClure have experienced differences of opinion regarding the orders issued. According to the chief's statement, McClure was responsible for his (Sheridan's) resignation during the first term of Herbert Atherton.

At that time, it is said, Sheridan reprimanded McClure when the latter was said to have overlooked an open window on his beat. He transferred the officer to another district. McClure carried his case to Mayor Atherton and was ordered restored to his original district. The following morning, Mayor Atherton found Chief Sheridan's badge and resignation on his desk.

Charges were preferred against McClure Monday morning, charging disobedience of orders, insubordination and conduct unbecoming an officer. He will get a hearing before Safety Director Collier.

Patrolman McClure's Statement.
The suspended patrolman is one of the oldest officers on the force. He has been in the service of the police department for more than ten years and has always borne a reputation of being an efficient and splendid officer. He made the following statement to the Advocate regarding Sunday night's trouble:

"I have always tried to be nice and civil to my fellows, my superior officers and to citizens. I am one of them, having cared for my home as a citizen. I would not believe it when told by a friend that Mr. Burke would be expelled and that there was a list of officers to be fired and that I was the next to go. I believe no one can say but what I have always done my duty. I never heard of a kick and didn't believe any one had it in for me."

"However, I have observed for the past couple of months, that I have been treated coldly. When I went out Sunday night to do my work, I admitted that I was thrown off my feet when the chief yelled at me angrily so that he could be heard a great distance, come back and put that chain on the hook."

"I hesitated. I couldn't understand the attack. He then told me I was suspended. I wanted to know why (for what reason.) The chain was nothing, why should he insult me and discharge me."

"He at once called for all the policemen to return, put me in the wagon and hauled me to the city prison. My fellow workers of course did not want to do so. They were told that unless they did they would all be immediately suspended."

"The chief grabbed for my badge. I didn't think my badge of honor, and I have always honored it, should be removed in that way, and I did refuse to let him take it. Why, you wouldn't? But when I was accosted decently by a superior officer, other than the chief, and asked for the badge and keys until the matter could be adjusted, I did as I always have done, obeyed orders and gave them up."

"I am the oldest in the service of any patrolman in the city. I have never been charged with any violation of the rules before and have never been suspended and why I am now, and was so attacked, I can not understand."

"I have been told that the chief says that this dated back to years ago. I did not know he harbored any malice against me. I never did him any wrong and he never told me that I did. If he didn't want me on the service why did he not say so to me. I would have given him my resignation at any time he wished. I can not feel that he has given me a square deal."

Mr. McClure has retained the services of Attorneys Russell and Smythe and will make a strenuous defense when the case is brought up for hearing.

AUTO ROLLS DOWN BANK

A broken thumb was the only injury sustained by W. D. Stoughton of Locke, field superintendent of the Columbus Gas and Oil company, when his automobile went over an embankment near Granville Friday night. Stoughton attempted to pass the wagon of a rural mail carrier at a point where the road sloped on each side. The bank gave way and the machine rolled into the ditch. The driver jumped, or he might have been caught under the machine, which was slightly damaged.

SUPREME COURT TO DETERMINE THE BABY'S PARENTAGE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 29.—One of the unique cases to come before the Supreme court during the session which begins in a few days is one in which the court will be called upon to determine the parentage of the "incubator baby" viewed by thousands at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis.

Mrs. Lotie Bleakley of Topeka, Kas., claims to be the mother of the little two-pound mite, which was placed in the world's fair incubator. She has fought in the courts of Illinois and Kansas for possession of the girl now nine years old and appears now before the court as a prosecuting witness against a detective who is charged with having kidnapped the girl from her home.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Barclay of Douglas county, Ill., claim the child as an adopted daughter. Barclay was an employe at the fair grounds, watched the baby grow in its little glass cage. The Barclays say investigations show that Mrs. Bleakley is mistaken about being the mother of the child. They claim that her child died a few days after it was born.

MASON FAMILY ARRIVES.

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Accompanied by his wife and eight year old daughter, Alwyn Mason, an American mining engineer who escaped imprisonment in Korea, after having been convicted of killing a Chinese, arrived today from the Orient enroute to Mexico. The Chinese was killed by Mason for attacking his little girl. He was sentenced to three years in prison but Americans and Koreans protested so strongly he was released.

The Iceman.

When days are hot the iceman brings his little chunk of hail, and he has healing in his wings, and in his pockets kale. Through crowded streets, in busy markets, he bears the boon of ice, and, in the fullness of our hearts, we kick about the price. To sick rooms, when we're nearly dead, he brings his precious freight; the patients then sit up in bed, and roar about the weight. In tenements, where poor folks dwell, his dripping load he bears; his patrons then rear up and yell, and throw him down the stairs. He makes it possible to live when summer heat is sore, and what reward do people give? The protest, and the roar! "You surely ought to get the bounce," they cry, when he is round; "You bring us only half an ounce, and charge us for a pound!" But patiently the iceman goes, serene, remote and wise, and duly brings us bergs and flocs of mildness. The multitude around him roars, and hoots him as he drifts; he brings his hailstones to our doors, and then send in his bills. Why roast the human utterly, and crowd him to the wall? We folks should groan and grateful be, to get his ice at all.

The Human Procession

Prince Maximilian, the eldest son of Crown Prince Ferdinand, nephew and heir of Emperor Franz Josef of Austria, was born in Vienna eleven years ago today. When his father, yielding to the dictates of his heart, passed by the hands of royalty and chose for his better half the lovely and gifted Countess Sophia Chotek, he duly renounced the right of his future children to succeed to the throne of Austria and Hungary. With the birth of her first son, eleven years ago today, Princess Sophia began a rebellion against the royal code that placed her in the position of a morganatic wife. It is not for herself that she fights, she has been given the title of Princess of Hohenberg and is received on terms of equality at all the courts of Europe, but for her son, whom she hopes to make some day the Emperor of Austria. The Crown Prince is a devoted father, and sides fully with the Princess in her campaign to make her son heir to the throne. Emperor William and King George and Queen Mary have espoused the cause of the beloved mother, and the Hungarian Parliament has declared her claims to be valid.

Warding Off "Old Age"

A London Physician says:—

When a distinguished scientist like Dr. Newsholme, of the Local Government Board, warns us that we are ageing prematurely as the result of the strain modern life throws on our hearts and arteries, it is worth thinking what can be done to stop this health wastage.

Dr. H. Strauss, of Vienna, in a recent number of the "British Medical Journal," makes the timely suggestion that much can be done to retard this premature wear and tear by paying a little ordinary attention to the diet.

The man whose heart or blood vessels begin to show signs of not being as young as they used to be should, for example, be very chary with his meaty foods. Two and a half to three and a half ounces of meat a day Dr. Strauss considers quite sufficient.

More important than what one eats, however, is what one drinks. Alcoholic stimulants of all kinds tend to burden the heart and blood vessels by making them work overtime, which of course increases in the wear and tear. But it isn't only alcoholic stimulants Dr. Strauss inveighs against. Caffeine (the powerful drug contained in tea and coffee,) this distinguished scientist points out, is also a powerful heart irritant. Every time one takes a cup of these beverages the caffeine in it encourages one's heart to do extra work which is practically always quite uncalled for, and therefore is an utter waste both of energy and heart muscle.

In these days when the strain of modern competition and high-speed mental work keeps one's heart constantly working at high pressure (thereby tending to produce premature wearing out) anything which can possibly add to the work thrown on the heart ought to be strenuously avoided. Caffeine, the powerful heart irritant contained both in coffee and tea is one of these substances.

It is to meet the growing demand for a caffeine-free beverage, delicious and as appetizing as tea or coffee, that Postum was invented. Made from the finest wheat.

looks like coffee, has a somewhat similar pleasant aromatic odor and a delicious flavor, and, best of all, is absolutely free from caffeine or other poisonous drugs.

Postum comes in two forms:
Regular Postum - must be well boiled.
Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with the addition of cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly

SWAN-ARMBRUST. On Thursday evening at the residence of Rev. W. D. Ward in 22 West Locust street the marriage of Mr. Earl W. Swan to Miss Louise Anna Armbrust of Lima, O., was solemnized.

Louise Anna Armbrust of Lima, Ohio. The wedding was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. William Swan.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Swan of this city and is employed as a clerk in the Trenner grocery in East Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Swan will be at home at apartments in the Fiorentina, Flats.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Haughey, aged and highly respected citizens, residing at 109 North Fourth street, this city, were the recipients of a well planned and successfully executed surprise, Saturday, September 27, 1913. It so happened that the birthday anniversary of both Mr. and Mrs. Haughey occurs about the same time on each recurring September. The former is eighty-five years old and the latter eighty. The surprise was held on the latter's birthday.

Mrs. Emma Montgomery Swickard, a niece of Johnstown, deserves great praise in originating and carrying out in detail the proceedings of the day. They were all near relatives, coming from Newark, Hebron, High Water, Johnstown, and Westerville, bringing well-filled baskets with viands of every description. When dinner time came, thirty-six sat down to a table groaning with the good things of this life.

Mr. and Mrs. Haughey, who are both in the enjoyment of reasonably good health, have lived lives of usefulness and respectability, and are deserving of the honor conferred upon them by those who have known them the most intimately during their long years of social service in the betterment and upbuilding of society. Their friends presented them with a financial gift as a token of the high esteem in which they are held.

KINLEY-KEGG. Very quiet was the wedding of Mr. Barton Kinley of Waynesboro, Pa., and Miss Lillian Mae Kegg of this city. They were joined in marriage at the home of Rev. Mr. Ward Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in the presence of a few friends and relatives. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Emma Kegg of South Fifth street. Mr. Kinley's home is in Waynesboro, Pa., but now holds a responsible position in Springfield, O., where they will make their future home. They are highly respected young people, who have a wide circle of friends to join in best wishes.

The Ladies Diversion club will be entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. J. W. Long at her home, 114 Wing street.

About sixty friends and relatives surprised Mrs. C. A. Moser Saturday evening at her home in Morris street, in celebration of her seventieth birthday anniversary. Mrs. Moser received a number of beautiful presents from the guests and at a late hour a four-course supper was served. The guests departed about midnight, wishing Mrs. Moser many more such happy birthday anniversaries.

The first meeting of the Coterie club was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. M. Howard in Clinton street and the following program was given from the calendar:

Music, Address, Retiring President -- Mrs. F. M. Howard.

President's Greeting--Mrs. Clifford Frye.

Survey of the Calendar--Mrs. Tower.

Music, Vacation Echoes--Club Members.

The guests were: Mrs. Bonshire, Mrs. T. J. Evans, Mrs. Daniel Alspaen, Mrs. W. G. Harrison, Mrs. W. T. Egan, Mrs. Crogan, Mrs. A. S. Mitchell, Mrs. Schill, Mrs. Celia Hirst and Miss Sophia Flurschurtz.

Mrs. Howard entertained the guests at dinner at the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Charles Gillette is entertaining at her home in Hudson avenue this afternoon with the third of a series of four parties. The first, a bridge party, was given on Friday. The second given on Saturday afternoon was also a bridge party. Nature's gift to autumn, the brightest of berries, flowers and leaves, adorn the Gillette home, making an ideal autumn party.

Every available space is filled with leaves of the most beautiful tints of green, brown and red. The living room and the music room are banked with myriads of blossoms, while in the dining room the centerpiece is a large basket filled with yellow asters and chrysanthemums.

On Friday the fortunate contestants in the game were Mrs. Richard Collins and Mrs. J. P. Latimer. The guests were: Mesdames E. T. Busch, Frank Elliott, W. W. Davis, James Irwin, D. M. Black, Charles Brown, William H. Mazy, D. H. Smith, A. B. Schauweker, Nelson Pierson, Chas. Kellenberger, J. P. Latimer, William Schroeder, Frank Bolton, John Franklin, H. P. Scott, Miss Marie Clouse and Miss Alice Ashbrook.

On Friday the concluding game found the souvenirs were to be awarded to Mrs. Harry P. Scott and Miss Mayme Smucker. Mrs. Gillette's list for Saturday included Mesdames H. P. Scott, U. O. Stevens, Edward Williams, Walter Ferguson, Helen Franklin, John Braddock, J. P. Irwin, Wm. Maholin, Ed. S. Miller, T. M. Jones, Eliza Rankin, Chris Hermann, Misses Mayme Smucker, Clara Scott, Maude Stadden, Romaine Stansbery, Gertrude Sook and Irene Jones.

This afternoon the hours will be devoted to needle work. The following are the invited guests: Mesdames Edward Doe, Giles Smucker, Charles Smucker, Don Tullis, William Prout, D. M. Smith, Fred Woodbridge, A. H.

Rickert, Cyrus Nevins, Zueblin, B. M. East, T. M. Edmiston, Jas. Thomas, W. M. Baldwin, Thomas Evans, Nora T. Baker, W. W. Reid, E. T. Rugg, Robert Rhoades, Chambers, Harriet Smyers, Edward Smith, George Ball, David Dowden, William Holler, Elliott Forry, Freda Brown, Emma Morse, W. A. Ingler, and H. P. Scott and Miss Ida Moore.

The fourth party will be given a few days later.

Obituary

Mr. George Miller.

George Miller, one of Licking county's best known citizens, passed to the great beyond Sunday afternoon at his home in Granville township, dissolution being due to a complication of ailments from which he had patiently suffered for some time.

Mr. Miller was born in Meckesbuhl, Grand Duchy of Baden, Germany, in 1841 and came to America with his parents six years later, settling at Dresden, O. Arriving at the age of manhood he engaged as a canal boat driver and after following that occupation for some years moved to Newark and operated a livery stable disposing of that business and engaging in the wholesale and retail meat business.

Mr. Miller was an enthusiastic advocate of the principles of Democracy and was honored by his party on numerous occasions. He was elected to serve in the city council for a number of terms and was elevated to the presidency of that body. In 1884 he was elected coroner and served two terms. In 1890 he was elected treasurer and was re-elected for a second term performing the functions of that office in a manner highly satisfactory to the taxpayers of the county. After leaving office he moved to his farm in Granville township where he resided until his demise.

Mr. Miller served with distinction throughout the civil war. He was mustered in Co. F, 62d O. V. I., Oct. 8, 1861, and was transferred to Battery S, Pennsylvania Light Artillery Aug. 6, 1862. He was mustered out at Chapin's Farm, Va., July 20, 1865, with the rank of sergeant, having served his country faithfully and well.

Mr. Miller was united in marriage with Louisa Flory, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Flory, in 1866. To this union three children were born, William C. and Charles W., and Mrs. Edward Tyler, all residents of this city. The wife and mother died in 1895 and Mr. Miller was married the following year to Miss Nellie McCamey, who with the three children by the first marriage survive to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. Highly respected by all who knew him he will be greatly missed as his counsel and advice were eagerly sought by friends in business affairs. He was a man of the strictest integrity and a citizen of whom any community might be proud.

The funeral will occur Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the home in Granville township. Prof. C. L. William of Denison University officiating.

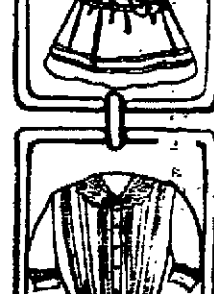

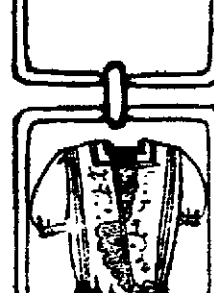

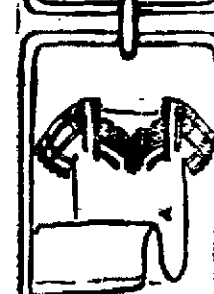

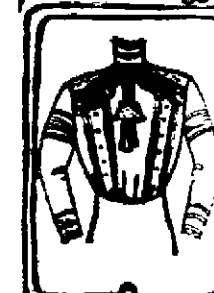

Mrs. Margaret Jacobs.

Mrs. Margaret Jacobs departed this life Sept. 17, 1913. She leaves three children, Samuel, William and Hiram, of Red Brush, Ohio. Also three sisters one in Michigan, one in Newark and one in Gambier, Ohio.

Marion B. McEwen.

Acute splenitis and auto-intoxication, or poisoning of the system by poisons secreted within the body, was the cause of the sudden death of Marion B. McEwen of Elmwood Avenue Saturday night about 11:30 o'clock. His death occurred at the City Hospital, where he was removed in the Bazler & Bradley ambulance about 7 o'clock.

Mr. McEwen had been ill but a few days. He had been working in

We regretted this very much as those of you who came early were disappointed. You can see them tomorrow though as we still have about thirty-eight of these charming garments left. They are tailored from all wool mannish serge and an exceptionally fine grade of wool Bedford cord. One style is made with the straight line back, so much in vogue now, the other two models have been cut along more fancy lines. Jackets are lined with Skinner's heavy satin and have satin covered rubber shields. Skirts are made in the latest approved styles. We have all sizes from 14 to 44 in the entire lot, but not all sizes in each style. Shades are black, navy, Copen, brown and taupe. These suits are positively $22.50 and $25.00 values. We bought them one-third off and will sell them the same way. Your choice at each.

CRAZED BROTHERS

killed. Walter then went to the home of his mother and aroused his brother. Together they proceeded through the main street of the little town, firing at every one in sight. Citizens, aroused from their slumber by the shots, peered out of the windows and then hastened to cover, believing, they said, that riots of more serious proportions had broken out.
The two boys, soon after leaving their home, went to the home of former Constable Frank Keinstly and when he responded to their call to come out, he was shot through the head by Walter Jones. Keinstly's son, William, saw his father fall and reached for a gun, but before he could fire he received a bullet in one of his hands.
The Yazoo and Mississippi Valley depot is near the Keinstly home and the two negroes walked in that direction. A train had arrived from Natchez just a few minutes before and Conductor E. B. Appleby was standing at the station talking to Flavian W. C. Bond. Without warning the two negroes fired on them and both fell. Then the negroes directed their fire at Claude Freeman, who was waiting for a train to take him to his home at Fayette, Miss. He was instantly killed. The negroes then fired into the train, terrorizing the passengers. A sleeping car from Harrison until the through train from Memphis to New Orleans arrives. After the train from Natchez had departed this car was a target for the fire of the two negroes. While many windows were broken no occupant of the car was hurt.

With the blood lust at the highest pitch the two negroes made their way to a cottonseed house nearby. It is believed they then realized that this wholesale killing could not long continue without opposition and that they determined to make their last stand at the seedhouse.

Frightened citizens by this time had gathered their wits together and telephoned for Sheriff Hammett at Fayette. Summoning former Sheriff Gillis to accompany him, Hammett started for Harrison on horseback, arriving about 5 o'clock. A small crowd of men were firing into the seedhouse, but no one had ventured to lead the posse to the place. Taking a few men with him, Sheriff Hammett, heavily armed, started toward the seedhouse, whereupon Walter Jones went to the tall grass nearby, and as Hammett approached the negro fired, killing him instantly. A shot from the seedhouse brought down Gillis.
By this time the countryside had been aroused and farmers came pouring in from every direction. A general fusillade of shots was directed at the seedhouse. A call was sent to Governor Brewer for troops.

Finding his hiding place too precarious, Will Jones, who was armed with a coal shovel, came out and ended his life. As he stood around the house, a telegraph pole became a target for shooting at the seedhouse.
Soon after Walter Jones, a negro, of the county, was killed. He was shot by his death to the ground.
Not a word of protest came from Jones when he was killed. A large rope was drawn around his neck and he was pulled up. A large crowd looked on as the dead body was strung up to the station and left to rot.

A FINAL REPORT

Eight Democratic members of the conference committee had been at work adjusting differences and compromising disputed questions. When the six Republicans were called in today it was only to give their formal expression of opinion upon the report which the Democrats had prepared.
As the tariff bill went into the conference committee, it carried more than 700 amendments made by the Senate and which the House refused to accept. All of these had been settled early today with the exception of the clause amending a proposed a tax on cotton. In many of its more important amendments to the bill the senate was successful in convincing the conferees that the changes should be accepted. These included the heavy increase in the tax rate on large incomes. The postponement of the date when free raw wool and reduced duties on woolen goods should become effective so that the trade may readjust itself, the transition to the free list of pig iron, manganese ore and cheap grades of iron and the reduction of duties on food products and many other articles.

As the tariff bill was prepared for presentation to the House today by Chairman Underwood, of the House conferees, it contained practically all of the reductions of duty that President Wilson had insisted were part of the Democratic program and made sweeping reductions in the tariff on nearly all articles of general use. The conference report, under the situation existing in congress had to go first to the house for approval before it could be laid before the senate.

It is quite certain that there was no executive opposition to the separation from the tariff bill of the provision imposing taxes on futures. In view of the president's thought, it is highly desirable that some legal strain should be put upon speculation that is injurious to the producer of cotton and other commodities, there appeared to be a radical difference between the two houses of congress as the best means of accomplishing this purpose. As the committee on provision is after all not at all essential to the enactment of tariff legislation, the president has assented to the action which it is understood the conferees have taken in cutting out this provision and leaving the subject to be treated in a special legislation in the future.

THE LAKES ARE GROWING SAFER

Toledo, Sept. 29.—The Great Lakes have an ill-name for tempest. There is a long chronicle of wrecks, strandings, collisions in time of storm and disasters brought about by the weight of freezing spray. It is written in the records of these waters that more than 14,000 vessels have been wrecked, 2,000 at least of which were tonnage losses. Millions of dollars have been lost and hundreds of lives. Upon every shoal boats have gone down and scarce a mile of the lakes but has its legends of wreck and drowning and the finding of sailors whom the gales had swept from ship-board.

But most of this ill-name was won while the lakes were developing a ship architecture which most easily and naturally suited itself to the conditions of navigation, while they were developing a class of seafarers as skillful and resourceful as it was bold and enduring. Some of the ill-name has survived beyond its time, because there have existed owners who would send vessels out to sea to gather the fat profits of the trade and because there have existed men who would respond to sensational owners' persuasions and appeals.

Thanks to steel and designers, the waves and the winds have a harder time at the attempt to drive and lead down the lake vessels. Thanks to the insurance rule, the habit of tempting charters does not cut so many owners. The lakes are living down their hard reputation. The season may come when not one wreck will be marked against them.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR APPLE GROWERS

With the outlook for a small crop in Ohio, says R. B. Collins, chairman of the college of agriculture, Ohio State University, there is a big opportunity for growers to get better prices for their fruit and have the way for next season's sales by careful grading and honest, attractive packing. Wise growers who have good apples for sale will grade and pack their fruit in such a way as to obtain top prices for it. While occasionally one talks to a man who says that the extra work has not paid him, yet with most growers and in a series of years, an honest, uniform pack always pays. If a buyer gets something this year that satisfies him, he is very apt to return next year for more, and the man who puts out a product that will attract purchasers does not have to worry about seasons of great plenty. A good reputation is an invaluable asset in the fruit business.

Drilling Holes for Dynamite in Culebra Cut

Dynamite Explosion of Several Tons Going Off in the Cut

Loading the Holes with Dynamite

The appalling loss of life through the use of dynamite—caused by premature explosions and inability on the part of the average canal laborer to understand the real danger of handling it.

ANYBODY in the days of the Panama Canal was the victim of a human life just before the creation of a great project was about to be undertaken. Today great enterprises pay their toll to death in a different way, but they pay it just the same, for the records show that even the building of a sky scraper almost invariably costs the life of one or more of the workmen who are engaged in its erection.

The building of the Panama Canal has been no exception in this rule, and violent deaths from one cause or another have been frequent occurrences. The tons and tons of dynamite used have been responsible for the greater number of fatal accidents.

Of course, many of these accidents are unavoidable—such things are sure to occur in every great work of constructive engineering. Although the exact number of deaths caused by dynamite has not been kept separate from other accidental deaths, it has been conceded to be over three hundred during the past four or five years. The tremendous rock excavations in Culebra Cut have been the continuous use of dynamite in quantities such as have never before been used in a single piece of construction work. The United States at present holds the record as a user of dynamite, for more than sixty million pounds have been exploded along the Canal about half the amount being set off in Culebra Cut alone. A great Many Fatalities in 1908.

Forty-one fatal dynamite explosions were recorded for the year 1908. This does not include the individual fatalities and shows only the death rate from preventable causes. The worst of these occurred at the Otis on December twenty, 1908, when there was a premature explosion of twenty-two tons of dynamite in Culebra Cut with the result that twenty-seven men were killed and forty injured. On May twenty-four, 1908, lightning caused the explosion of ten tons of dynamite, killing two men and wounding several. In speaking of death-dealing occurrences one of the members of the Canal Commission recently declared that the most rigid rules had been made in reference to the handling and preparation of exposed to the danger, that an error of a few inches might prevent premature explosion, with the result that the accidental deaths from dynamite had been reduced to twenty-one in 1912, against one hundred and twelve in 1911.

"We have done all in our power to prevent explosions, but it is not always easy to enforce all our rules, however, for it has been the experience of every engineer on such a job as this that men will persist in recklessness despite all the rules to the contrary."

Methods of Exploding Dynamite.

The method of exploding dynamite in Culebra Cut is rather interesting. Two kinds of drills are used—tripod and wheel, both of which are operated by compressed air. This is supplied from a battery of compressed air main on the west bank of the Cut, which is supplied by three batteries of air compressors placed at equal distances along the miles of the Cut. The holes drilled are fourteen feet apart and the depth drilled is usually about twenty-seven feet. The holes are loaded with forty-five per cent potassium nitrate dynamite in such quantities as is necessary for the character of the rock to be blasted. They are connected in parallel and fired by means of a current from the electric light plant—the firing being done at noon time while the laborers are not at work or after five o'clock in the evening. A warning whistle is blown for five minutes before the blasting begins. The greatest number of drills used at any one time in the Cut was three hundred and seventy-seven, of which one hundred and fifty-six were well and two hundred and twenty-one tripped. With this number about ninety miles of holes can be drilled in a single month. It is estimated that a pound of dynamite has been used to every cubic yard of material blasted in Culebra Cut.

Curious Facts of Explosives.

Whenever an accident occurs there is, of course, a thorough investigation and some rather curious facts in the working of explosives have been discovered at these investigations. For instance, on one occasion the dynamite gang was preparing to set off about twenty-two tons in the Cut. All of the holes had been charged except one, and the leading men were at work on this when the whole thing suddenly went off and dynamite took its toll from some of the best men in the squad. It was first thought that the current passing through the wire from the generator had touched a current in the fuse wires which had not been connected with the generator when the explosion occurred, but on investigating it was found that the fuse wires were so small that the generator current did not induce sufficient current in the fuse wires to set off the charge when the two wires were only an inch apart, so, of course, some other cause had to be found. Finally someone suggested that the water in the holes be examined, and when this was done it was found that this was slightly acidulated and consequently acted upon the paper of the dynamite cartridges and liberated the nitro-glycerine. It was learned that the first hole had been charged nearly a week before the last hole was reached, which gave the acidulated water plenty of time to reach the nitro-glycerine. A charge had been exploded on the opposite side of the Cut and this concussion had been sufficient to set off the nitro-glycerine after it had been liberated by the action of the water. It was found by experiments that the acidulated water could not liberate the nitro-glycerine unless it had several days to act. This investigation resulted in an order being issued by Colonel Goethals to the effect that all charges must be exploded within twenty-four hours after they are loaded. The rule has been strictly adhered to and since that time there has not been a single premature explosion of dynamite in the Cut. The temperature of the holes must be taken before the dynamite is placed therein. After a premature discharge a year or two ago it was found that heat was generated in the holes by the oxidation of material below the surface when exposed to the air by the drilling of holes for explosive charges. This rule, too, has aided in the prevention of sudden blow-ups.

Another cause of death from dynamite has been the failure of some of the charges to explode when the others go off. Several times these unexploded charges have been struck by steam shovels with the inevitable result—death to the men working the shovels. The steel buckets coming in sudden contact with the rock and dynamite cause the explosion. The writer recalls that on one occasion while riding on the pay car in the Cut an accident of this sort happened on the level directly above the car, but fortunately the dynamite merely fizzed and did not explode. It was some time before the engineers could find a remedy for this, but it was finally noticed that when the charges were fired parallel they were never known to miss fire, so this system was adopted.

How Dynamite Is Stored.

In the early days of the Canal building the dynamite car was run directly into the Cut and unloaded there, but after awhile this became dangerous owing to the number of dirt and sand trains which were continually passing to and fro in the big ditch. At present it is stored in houses along the top of the Cut. Red flags are placed all around these houses and they are guarded by men besides. A large amount is stored in the dynamite squad carry boxes containing fifty pounds down a flight of one hundred and ninety-seven steps and then across the Cut to the opposite side. They must avoid the dirt trains and be careful not to stumble over the numerous railway tracks or to trip over the rocks which are all about.

Narrow Escapes.

On one occasion the writer was standing on the Empire bridge which crosses the Cut watching the men filling the holes preparatory to the noon hour blast. The men were carrying the dynamite down the steps when one of them stumbled. Two men standing nearby started to run, but the man grabbed the handrail and steadied himself, still holding the box of dynamite on his shoulder. It must have frightened his companions for they all rested a few moments, being careful to set the boxes down very carefully. At another time farther down the Cut one of the men carrying dynamite started to cross. As he did so a dirt train he in sight and stopped directly in front of him. The dynamite man was in a hurry, so he climbed on one of the cars and was about to get off on the other side when the train started. This meant, perhaps, being carried miles away from his work. He was afraid to jump with the box on his shoulder so he calmly tossed the box off the car and jumped after it. A cry of horror went up from those who saw it, but nothing happened, so the negro picked up his dynamite and went over to the holes. Here he was met by the foreman, who gave him a lecture which he is likely to remember.

Out in the Pacific channel they are blasting the rock under water by use of a floating drill board. This has three huge drills which make the holes, and after these holes have been prepared for the blast the drill board moves back and the explosive is set off by electricity and dynamite exploded under water does not, however, make an especially spectacular appearance. Of course, there is a great splashing of water but rocks rarely fly about as they do when it is exploded on land.

It makes one shudder to think of the horrible death of the men who are paying the toll to dynamite as the great Panama Canal is being constructed.

Here he was met by the foreman, who gave him a lecture which he is likely to remember.

Out in the Pacific channel they are blasting the rock under water by use of a floating drill board. This has three huge drills which make the holes, and after these holes have been prepared for the blast the drill board moves back and the explosive is set off by electricity and dynamite exploded under water does not, however, make an especially spectacular appearance. Of course, there is a great splashing of water but rocks rarely fly about as they do when it is exploded on land.

It makes one shudder to think of the horrible death of the men who are paying the toll to dynamite as the great Panama Canal is being constructed.

Ladies' Suits and Winter Coats----

YOUNG WOMAN DRIVING AUTO HAS COLLISION

A collision with a motorcycle ridden by James Armstrong a carpenter, of this city, landed Miss Marian Jones of Zanesville, before Police Chief James S. Sheridan Sunday afternoon because she was driving on the wrong side of the street. Armstrong escaped serious injury, though his trousers were torn and his leg badly bruised. Neither machine was damaged.

Patrolman Stewart took the young woman to headquarters for an interview with the police chief. She gave her name as Marian Jones but the automobile license record at headquarters states that the machine, which bore license No. 30,987, was owned by George McDonald, 125 North Third Street, Zanesville.

According to the story told to the police by the motorcycle rider, Armstrong, Miss Jones was driving south in Third Street and turned into Main Street, swerving to the south side of the street, instead of remaining on the north side of the car tracks.

Armstrong was headed east in Main Street and the two machines came together. The cyclist was thrown to the pavement and slightly injured. A bystander was struck by the motorcycle when it fell and the heel was torn from his shoe.

Patrolmen Abbott and Stewart told the young woman to report at headquarters for an interview with the police chief. A half hour's conference followed, the result of which was an order issued for Miss Leeper to report here Monday for final adjustment of the case.

STEAMER MOHAWK GOES AGROUND IN HUDSON RIVER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Three hundred passengers of the steamer Mohawk of the Manhattan Navigation Company were transferred from the vessel early today after she had gone hard aground on an embankment off Hyde park seven miles north of here. The boat struck shortly before midnight but it was after 2 o'clock this morning when the transfer of the passengers had been effected. Most of them resumed their journey to Albany over the New York Central railroad.

In the panic which followed the grounding several passengers were slightly hurt. Many had been thrown from their berths by the impact which tore a large hole in the Mohawk's bow and forced her nearly 30 feet up the river bank, almost to the New York Central tracks. Officials of the line said today that the accident was due to a break in the steering gear.

In response to the vessel's wireless distress, the steamers Trojan and Iroquois of the same line came up and took off consignments of passengers. Many of them were hysterical women. There was a long wait in the station at Poughkeepsie before they could take a train for Albany.

CORRECT DRESS FOR MEN

THEY LOOK THE PART

You want to play in the world of today. Our Smart Clothes have the dignity of quality and the smartness of distinctive fashion.

This isn't generally true of ready-for-wear Suits. Our Smart Clothes are made to our special order by Stein Bloch, Strouse & Bros and The L system and are more truly what you understand tailor-made to mean—than the average custom-tailor can produce. Every hand that touches them is a master hand.

Just compare them with the best you can find at $5 more than our Smart Suits are marked. That's the answer.

TODAY'S RACES AT COLUMBUS DECLARED OFF

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Columbus, Sept. 29.—Because of light showers today's grand circuit races were called off. Today's card will be run tomorrow.

Threatening clouds and a heavy track this morning made uncertain the racing of the day's program, the first of the second week of the grand circuit meet. Today's card called for are considered some of the best races of the concluding week's program. In the Board of Trade 2:07 pace, three in five, with a $3,000 purse, Directum L. was a favorite. Others paces to start in this race are Doctor B. P. Nellie Temple, Baron A. Our Coloma, and Eddie Dillard.

Robert Milroi, who last week won a class trot, and Marigold are picked as the probable contenders for the honors in the Columbus 2:08 trot. The stake is $3,000. Other horses to be in the race are: Cheeny Oakdale, Peter Thompson, Bona Zolock, King Brook, Cascade, Tommy Finch and Rythmell.

The 2:16 pace, three in five, for $1,200, was the third number on the program.

OPERATING A HOSPITAL IN FREIGHT CAR

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Chicago, Sept. 29.—A hospital in an ordinary box car, the first of its kind to be operated by a railroad, was put in commission here today near the scene of track elevation work by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad. It will be in charge of a surgeon who not only will give first aid to the injured but will lecture to employees, instructing them how to aid themselves and warn them against carelessness.

The car has a completely equipped operating room and a ward. The interior is paneled in white and a screen partition separates its two rooms. Gas, hot running water, an electric fan and many other accommodations have been installed. The beds are broad canvas cots, suspended from chains and springs.

PROGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN IN MASSACHUSETTS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Boston, Sept. 29.—An automobile campaign tour of the entire state was started today by Charles S. Bird Progressive candidate for governor. Four automobiles carried Mr. Bird and his party when they left this city with the intention of visiting every one of the 14 cities and towns in Massachusetts in the course of five weeks.

A life and drum corps occupied one of the cars.

PIANOS--PIANOS

An invitation is most cordially extended to you to make our store your headquarters during fair week. No trouble for us to take care of your packages, a good place to rest and we always have some good music to help you pass the time. We have no display at the fair this year, as our line is too good for us to take any chances on moving weather conditions etc., but at our store we have an exceptionally fine line of Pianos in all grades, styles and wood to show you, also that good Player Piano that you have been looking for. Come in and hear it. We also have a few good used Pianos to show that are priced very low, and twelve organs that are priced below the cost of the cases.

Whether you want to buy or not, we want you to come in, rest up, leave your packages and make yourself at home, for this is our week to entertain you and we are ready. Victor Victorolas, Columbia Grafonolas, Records, Sheet Music.
